Litmos: taking the guesswork out of compliance

Litmos is the Learning Management System (LMS) that people love to use. Litmos makes it easy for courses to be assigned to employees and for accurate tracking of results.

Compliance:

If you operate in a heavily regulated industry or a company in which safety is a huge concern, finding a secure learning management system is essential to the organization

Applying a Learning Management System (LMS) can help you achieve greater compliance training completion rates and help you easily track the progress of your employees to prove just how compliant your organization is.

If you operate in a heavily regulated industry or a company in which safety is a huge concern, it is essential for your organization to have a secure learning management system. Safety coordinators/training coordinators know how important it is to be compliant with occupational health and safety requirements. Your company's reputation, liability, and even bottom line can be affected by how well your employees are trained. One of the easiest ways to track compliance training for your employees is by accessing Atlantic Safety Centre's Learning Management System (LMS).

Reporting Made Easy (Reporting Has Never Been So Easy)

LMS provides safety coordinators/ training coordinators with access to reports with different levels of management inside your organization and any third parties who may need this information. Robust reporting allows you to easily drill down into completion rates and assessment scores. Information is accessible at individual, team, and organization levels.

Your Content Is Secure

Litmos securely stores all of your content and user information behind a hardware firewall.

Messages & Notifications

Safety coordinators/ training coordinators can use the built-in system wide notification system provided by LMS with reminders and messaging about compliance, session registration, and class reminder.

Certifications

Atlantic Safety Centre Inc. defines and issues electronic certificates for all successfully completed courses. Paper copies of certificates are available upon request.

Leave It to Your Customers

Litmos has an eCommerce and self-registration feature which allows your employees or safety coordinators/training coordinators to enroll users themselves.
